About Amy

Amy always steps up when the stakes are high and the mission is tough. She's gone toe-to-toe with Washington insiders and knows what it takes to build a campaign strong enough to go head-to-head with the powerful special interests lined up against us.

Amy McGrath is a wife, a mom of three, a dog-owner and a proud Kentuckian. As a child, she dreamed of flying military jets, even when women weren't allowed in combat roles. Amy didn't take no for an answer. She pushed for change, broke barriers, and went on to become the first woman in the Marine Corps to fly a combat mission in an F/A-18.

Over 20 years of service, Amy flew 89 combat missions, led Marines in some of the toughest places on earth, and served at the Pentagon and on Capitol Hill, working to shape America's national security. Everywhere Amy has served, one principle has guided her: mission first, people always.

And now she's fighting for Kentucky families once again with the same grit and determination. Kentuckians deserve someone battle-tested and ready to fight for them on day one.

She has the backbone to take on tariffs that hurt all of us, especially our farms and bourbon industry, to protect rural health care, and to stand up for Kentucky's veterans.

Amy's loyalty is to Kentucky and Kentuckians — always, without exception.

On the Issues

Amy believes that DC politicians have failed Kentucky by raising costs, shutting down rural hospitals, selling out to lobbyists, and putting their own power ahead of our families.

Chaos has become the business model in Washington. Tariffs that are hidden taxes, stunts instead of solutions, insiders cashing in while families pay more. Kentuckians deserve better. Amy will work to restore competence, lower costs, and build a government that puts Kentucky families first.
