CHAPTER CXCV.

An ACT for adding part of the County of Madison to the County of Knox.

Approved December 12, 1804.

WHEREAS it is represented to the present general assembly, that some of the good citizens of Madison county labor under great inconveniences in attending at present seat of justice, owing to the distance and badness of the road which they have to travel, and that it is much nearer and better way to Knox court-house: for remedy whereof,

c. 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That after the first day of April next, all that part of Madison county, aforesaid, comprised within the following bounds, shall be added to and considered as of the county of Knox, to wit: Beginning on the west of the present counties, at a point due west of the mouth of Collins's fork of Goose creek; thence east to the mouth of said fork; thence a straight line to a point twelve miles south of the house of James Kencaid, Esq.; thence a straight line (so as to leave said Kencaid in Madison county) to the nearest part of the ridge that crosses the waters of Goose creek from those of the Bird fork; thence with the said ridge eastwardly to the line of Knox county; and with the same to the eastward.

c. 2. And be it further enacted, That the sheriff of said county of Madison may lawfully, after the first day of January next, distrain or collect all public and officers' fees from the inhabitants residing in the above mentioned boundary, which the said sheriff now is or may be before the said first day of April, 1804. bound by law to collect.

This act shall commence and be in force from and after its passage

CHAPTER CXCV.

An ACT allowing the Clarke Circuit Court to sit ten juridical days.

Approved December 12, 1804.

BE it enacted by the general assembly, That it shall and may be lawful for the Clarke circuit court to sit ten juridical days at each term, if the business before them require it.

This act shall be in force from its passage.

CHAPTER CXCVI.

An ACT to legalize the proceedings of the County Court of Christian.

Approved December 12, 1804.

WHEREAS the county court of Christian did, at their April term in the year 1804, by an order of said court, alter the name of the county town of the said county, which before had been called Elizabeth, and named the same town Hopkinsville; and whereas doubts have arisen whether the said court, having once given the name of Elizabeth to the said town, could afterwards change it: therefore,

Be it enacted, That the aforesaid order of the said county court shall be valid and legal, to all intents and purposes, and the said town heretofore known by the name of Elizabeth, shall hereafter be called and known by the name of Hopkinsville.

This act shall commence and be in force from and after the passage thereof.

CHAPTER CXCVII.

An ACT for the removal of the Seat of Justice of Nicholas County.

Approved December 12, 1804.

This act fixed the seat of justice on the plantation of James Ellis, about two miles from the Lower Blue Licks, on the main road from Paris to Limestone.
